

EXPRESSION OF INTEREST FOR MEMBERS

Human Research Ethics Committee

ABOUT US

UniSQ's Human Research Ethics Committee (UniSQ HREC) serves UniSQ's research community, reviewing applications for research studies across the translational research continuum. When people are involved in reviewing research involving human participants, they have the opportunity to shape the future of their community and improve outcomes for all.

The UniSQ HREC meets monthly, both in-person or virtually (COVID-Safe practices in place) to review and assess the ethical and scientific validity of research applications for studies to be undertaken with UniSQ's facilities, across Queensland and nationally across Australia.

Expressions of Interest (EOI) are being sought from interested persons to volunteer with the UniSQ HREC in one of the categories set out in our guiding framework, National Statement on Ethical Conduct in Human Research 2007 (Updated 2018) ('The National Statement') 5.1.30:

Laywoman – a person who:

- I. Identifies as female
- II. has no affiliation with UniSQ; and
- III. does not currently engage in medical, scientific, legal or academic work.

Counsellor – a person who:

- I. has knowledge of, and current experience in, the professional care, counselling or treatment of people, for example, a nurse or allied health professional.

Lawyer – a person who:

- I. is a registered practitioner in Australia
- II. is not engaged to advise the University of Southern Queensland

Requirements

- Attendance at meetings: The HREC ordinarily meet 10 times per year, requiring attendance in person or via zoom
- Meetings dates: are scheduled on a Tuesday from 12:30pm – 2:30pm. (UniSQ meeting Schedule)
- Time commitment: Approximately six (8) hours per month; this involves reading of allocated applications and attendance at the meeting.
- Training: Completion of online induction and participation in ongoing training as required (integrated into meetings when the agenda permits).

IS THIS ROLE FOR YOU?

- You have a genuine interest in research and appreciate the interests of potential research participants, as well as the potential risks and benefits of research proposals
- You are willing and able to learn, understand and apply research ethics principles The University follows the guidelines published by the Australian Government funded National Health and Medical Research Council ([NHMRC) in the conduct of ethical and responsible research, i.e. National Statement on Ethical Conduct in Human Research (2007) and the Australian Code for the Responsible Conduct of Research \(2018\)].
- You can attend and participate in meetings as described in the requirements (includes a pre-review of applications prior to the meeting, and discussion of feedback at the meeting).
- You have used online software programs and are comfortable with learning to use the UniSQ Research Information Solutions Ecosystem (RISE) which researchers use to submit online application forms to UniSQ for review.
- You can attend professional development opportunities to further your knowledge and application of ethical thinking (where possible these will be integrated into meetings or available online so as not to be overly burdensome for members)
